Hi there,

I would urge you to please consider the public transport system in the Knocklyon area. If there is to be a metro, please extend it out to here. As more and more houses are built around the ballycullen area, more cars are on the road. More traffic etc. If there was a way of traveling quickly on public transport, less people would drive which would help the environment while also lessening traffic. The time it takes on current public transport is ridiculous. I work in Vincent's hospital and it takes me at least 90 mins to get to work and 90mins home- that is 3 hours a day, 15 hours a week. This is only if I leave before peak time, if I leave later it is 2 hours each way. This is unacceptable in a capital city like Dublin.

Please consider bringing the metro to Knocklyon, it would make such a difference.

Thanks,

Sarah
